

Lane of March for the Republican Rally Monday Night.

RECEPTION FOR UNION GENERALS.

Ex-Gov. Oglesby May Preside on the Night of Oct. 8—Meetings in the Country Last Night.

The Republicans will have a big street demonstration Monday night when ex-Governor Joe Fifer will be the center of the Grand opera house. In the column with the McKinley marching clubs will be the Wheelmen and the Union Veteran club. The Democrats will have a meeting the same night at the tabernacle and they too will have a parade.

The Republicans and Democratic committees have agreed upon lines of march that it is believed will not conflict and will thereby avoid the confusion of having two processions on one street at the same time. They are as follows:

Republican Line of March—From Abbott's hall, march east to Main; north on Main to North; west on North to Church or Edward; south on Church or Edward to West Main; east on West Main to St. Nicholas; east on Main to Water; south on Water to opera house.

Democratic Line of March—From on North Water street, north of Prairie; march south on Water to West; west on West to Main; north on Main to North; west on North to Church; north on Church to tabernacle. The parade will form at 7:30 p. m.

Preparations for Oct. 8th.
The night of Oct. 8, General Alger, General Sickles, General Sigel, General Howard and General Tamm will arrive in Decatur from the south on their special train. There will be two big meetings in Decatur that night, one at the Grand opera house and one at the tabernacle, and there will be a parade of home and visiting clubs. Ex-Governor Oglesby will probably be secured to preside at the meeting at the opera house. Members of the Union Veteran club will go to Peas to receive the generals, and escort them to Decatur.

Country Meetings.
State's Attorney Mills was at Warrensburg last night to address a Republican meeting. The town hall was crowded. E. J. Roberts was one of the Democrats present who complimented Mr. Mills by saying that he talked to the point at issue. C. B. Hall was the chairman. Illinois township will make a good showing for the Republican cause in November.

The Long Creek Republicans were out in full force at the town hall last night. Many had to stand outside during the speaking as they could not enter. W. F. Catham delivered the address, which was well received. The Tamm glad club sang several patriotic selections in capital style. The Long Creek Republicans organized a cavalry company last night. They will come to Decatur Monday night to participate in the parade and Tuesday night they will go to the Republican rally at Cero Gordo.

The speakers at the Republican meeting at Orem last night were F. S. McDonald and James O'Mara. Both gentlemen covered the issues in the campaign and were heard and applauded by a large audience.

Hon. James E. Sharrock filled his appointment at Macon last night. He had a large crowd and made a good speech.

Ex-Governor J. M. Hamilton is to address the Republicans at Cero Gordo next Tuesday. He will arrive in Decatur Monday evening and will be at the St. Nicholas hotel where no doubt many Republicans will call to pay him their respects.

Woodman's Band in the Union.
All members of the Woodman band are now members of the Musicians' union in good standing. The Woodman band players are G. W. Jones, J. B. Johnson, H. H. Wilkins, Albert Bukman, L. G. Wheeler, C. D. Jones, Frank Williams, C. Stoutenborough, M. W. Williams, L. Luce, C. W. Brandon, C. W. Pringle, Fred Mann, H. C. Wilkin, J. E. Beres, W. L. Smith and C. Bennett. The band will play for the Democratic demonstration Monday night.

Social Time at Mr. Zion.

There was another of those pleasant surprise parties for which Mr. Zion is famous. Last night, the victim in the lion's den was Mrs. A. M. Conn. The guests brought the supper which proved to be a veritable banquet and everybody enjoyed it and had a good time. The party was about fifty present. Alderman Edwards was heard to remark that "the next one must be a 'possum supper'."

THE GLASS WORKERS

They Reach Canton and McKinley's Home Before Breakfast.

A FACTORY LOST BY CANTON.

It Did Not Go Out of the Country When It Went to Indiana—The Relocation of the Farm and Factory.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 25.—The members of McKinley's household had not breakfasted when the first delegation arrived. McKinley, in represented the glass workers of Grant county, Indiana. In response to the greeting McKinley said in part:

"Welcome the Republicans and the citizens of the Hoosier state. The state of Indiana is a grand old war governor, Oliver P. Morton, and that splendid president and patriot, Benjamin Harrison. (Great cheering.) You are here this morning not to honor me personally, but to honor those whom you love and mean to support. You mean to support that cause because you believe it will insure perfect welfare and the well being of the country at large. (Cries of "That's right.") You believe in that cause because you tried it and having tried it know you have been more prosperous under the policy it represents than you ever have been under any other policy. (Loud cries of "That's right.") If anything was needed to confirm you in the danger of a revolution of that policy it could be found in your experience during the last four years. (You are interested in Indiana just as we are in Ohio, both in agriculture and manufacturing. You know something in that great gas belt of manufacturing means to any community. You know where there is successful manufacturing there is a prosperity. You know where there is a prosperity there is always prosperous agriculture. (Cries of "You're right.") Farms about a manufacturing city advance in value, and the market of a farmer is enhanced every time you put a new factory. You have in your city of Canton an industry which manufactures glass that used to be in the city of Canton. That fairly illustrates my idea. We would very much preferred to have a man here but it was taken away. However, it did not go out of our country. (Great applause.) It went into a neighboring state, therefore the benefits are for American families. American workmen do the work. We share your good wishes and prosperity. But we would have differently had it gone out of the United States. In a word, we want to see our manufacturing at home. If we cannot do it in Ohio, we are willing to have it go to Indiana. (Great cheers and cries of "What's the matter with McKinley?") We want in this country good wages, steady employment, and a home market, then we want to continue a good, sound, round, honest dollar with which to do our business and pay our labor. (Tremendous cheering.)"

At a special train brought a delegation from Crawford county, Pennsylvania, including the students from Allegheny college which McKinley attended in 1874.

In response to the greetings of the Crawford county delegation, McKinley referred with pleasure to the days when he attended Allegheny college and to the fact that it is a year ago conferred a special degree on him. Continuing he said: "No matter what our occupation in life we are all interested in good government, good laws, general prosperity. Unfortunately we have not enjoyed general prosperity the last four years. Times have been hard. Business has been depressed. Workmen have been idle. Farmers have been unable to receive just rewards for their husbandry. I now think the people desire to return to the good times of 1892 (applause), times from which we ran away and which we have been regretting ever since. Now, my fellow citizens, what we want this year is to cast our ballots for that party and those principles which will secure us the greatest prosperity."

At noon a delegation of farmers came by special train from Wyandotte county, Ohio. It was conspicuous for the number of banners and mottoes it carried. This afternoon a delegation from Tiffin and Seneca county, Ohio, arrived. George E. Schroth delivered the address of greeting.

PREDICTION BY SENATOR LINDSAY

He Says Kentucky Will Give McKinley a Big Majority.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 25.—In an interview last night Senator William Lindsay declared that in his opinion Bryan will be defeated by the greatest majority any candidate for president was ever defeated by. Said he:

"Bryan will not carry a state east of the Mississippi or north of the Ohio river, nor will he carry California, the Dakotas and several others that are being claimed by the Bryan men. He will lose Kentucky by a big majority, and the fusion between the silverites and Populists is going to disrupt the silver party."

Utah Free Silver Republicans.

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 25.—The Independent Republican state convention adopted a platform in favor of free silver, and declared it would not support McKinley, and would work for Bryan. Lafayette Holbrook, of Provo, was nominated for congress and presidential electors were named.

NEW MILE RECORD.

John R. Gentry at Rigby Park, Portland, Maine, Paced a Mile in 2:00 1/2 With Runner.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—John R. Gentry yesterday at Rigby Park, paced the fastest mile ever made in harness and placed the world's record at 2:00 1/2.

The day was cold and a light northeasterly wind was blowing up the stretch when Gentry, with W. S. Andrews upon the sulky, came out to go against his record of 2:01 1/2 made September 8 of this year at Glen Falls, N. Y.

The famous pacer scored once or twice with the runner who was to pace him and then went up the stretch in what was to be the fastest mile ever done by a horse in harness.

There was no big crowd present, but what there was they gave the pacer a great ovation.

The runner was at the pacer's throat.

ANOTHER PAPER BOLTS BRYAN

Fairmont, Ill., "Monitor" Gives Its Reasons for Advocating Honest Money.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 25.—The Fairmount Monitor, the only free silver paper in Vermilion county outside of Danville, has come out for McKinley and the gold standard. The editor says he made a grave mistake in being carried away with the silver excitement, and adds:

"Since then, in calmer moments, we have read the many speeches of Mr. Bryan, and are more mystified than ever to comprehend how any sane man could have been misled by such inconsistencies and absurdities. We are now asking how can money become cheaper and at the same time double in value. How can good times be restored through a panic? How can the laboring man get better wages while his product sells for less? How can the farmer get better prices for grain and meat while the laborer is to buy his subsistence cheaper? How can confidence be restored by wiping out credit and casting honor to the winds? How can we increase our volume of money by driving one-half of it into secret and secure hiding places? These and a thousand other questions, appealing to our reason, have hammered incessantly on our brain for the past three weeks, until we can withstand them no longer, and must declare to our readers and the public, who may have been carried away by the moonshine of free silver and mistook it for the sunlight of a sound financial system, like we have, that there is no answer to such questions, except the great truth, which are that no government can be greater than its citizens, can perform no miracles nor violate the moral law without punishment."

SHOT IN THE SIDE.
Byron Fuller Has an Ugly Experience Near Men's Bridge.

Last Wednesday Byron Fuller, aged 20 years, whose home is at Blue Mound where his parents reside, came near losing his life in a turnip patch near Men's bridge. The young man had been in Oakley township visiting his grandfather, C. L. Walker, father of ex-Supervisor Walker, and was riding along the road in a buggy with his cousin, Clarence Walker, and James Hockaday, of Forsyth. Passing the turnip patch which is owned by Mrs. Shorb and leased by the Boyd brothers of Decatur, young Fuller jumped out of the buggy and got into the patch to get a couple of turnips. He was in the act of pulling the turnips when somebody hailed him from ambush, saying, "What are you doing there? You had better get out or you will get shot." Just then another person cried out, "Shoot!" and a shot gun was discharged. Two shot entered the side of the boy and some penetrated his leg. He was in bad shape for a time. Then the Boyd brothers appeared, one carrying a shot gun. They claimed to have the right to shoot and had no apologies to make.

Young Fuller was in the city today to have a talk with the authorities. The matter will come before the grand jury next week.

WANTED—Work by millions of unemployed Americans, thrown out of employment by millions of workmen in other countries, whose product comes here under the Wilson bill, and who buy what they eat from farmers from their own countries, and what they wear and use in furnishing their homes from foreign merchants. These American workmen are out of work, and many of them out of money, too. With the McKinley times of 1892 back again, employment is guaranteed. But they want work now, and want it badly. Payment in any money of the United States government today, silver, paper, or gold, too cents to every dollar, will be entirely satisfactory.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS.

The Badge of Honor.
As predicted by the Republican it would, the Decatur Review this morning burlesques and insults those railroad men who left this city yesterday in large numbers to attend the sound money rally of railroad men at Terre Haute. It prints an illustration of the badge worn by those who went to Terre Haute and characterizes it as a "Badge of Slavery." When stripped of all superfluity, this means, from the Demopoulit stand-point, that the railroad man who will not allow a wild-eyed free silver howler to make an ass of him is, therefore, a slave; that the wage earner who will not allow a lot of sneaking incendiaries to lead him into the notion that the corporation or the men who give him employment are his enemies, and on that delusion casts his vote to help some designing Democrat get an office, and himself out of a job, is the property of his employer. No greater compliment could, if properly understood, be passed upon a wage earner than to be charged by the mountebank who cannot use him with being another's slave.

The same civilization and many of the same men, who sneeringly spoke of the railroad people as slaves, for no better reason than that they are not willing to cut their wages in two by voting to reduce the value of a dollar which measures their wages from 100 cents to 50 cents, called the young men who enlisted in the Union army to save the country from dissolution and who refused to betray their country and dishonor themselves by desertion, "Lincoln Dogs," "Lincoln Hirelings," and on one occasion one man who is now a leader for free silver and national dishonor said in a public speech that every northern soldier should have an iron collar forged about his neck and have inscribed up it, "A. Lincoln, His Dog." To those people, of those days, the soldier who could not be induced to desert the cause he was sworn to support, and whose loyalty and responsibility to his country, was a slave, a puppet, a tool, a more dog cringing at the heels of Abraham Lincoln the men they characterized as a usurper and tyrant.

To be thus characterized by such men was an evidence of the soldier's loyalty and was creditable to him, instead of a reproach. The day has come when all men who set any value upon their country, honor those who defended the union on the field, and the men who called him a dog and Lincoln a usurper and a tyrant, want no mention made of the error they committed by following their prejudices and passions thirty-three years ago, and are first to applaud the name of Lincoln whom they maligned and insulted while he was trying to save the government from destruction. Men who could commit so grievous an error at that time can do the same now. They then invoked the constitution in defense of their conduct which they now indirectly apologize for. They now again invoke the constitution while they are trying to foist the free silver fraud and other dangerous doctrines upon the American people and calling the free man a slave who refuses to follow them, but the time will come when the railroad man whom they call a slave because they cannot deceive him into acting against his own interest will be honored for his independence and devotion to right political principles. The "Badge of Slavery" in the free silver, free trade vocabulary is a badge of honor in the patriotic vocabulary just as the "Lincoln Hirelings" was in the 60s.

The Review also conveniently heard a man say that all that was lacking to make the badge complete was that it should have at the bottom, "England Expects Every Man to Do His Duty." Perhaps that man thought it was smart to say so, but his saying so does not make it so any more than his vote gave this country prosperity. When he casts such an aspersion upon those who disagree with him he is forgetful of the fact that Wilson, the author of the Democratic tariff act was feasted in England after the act became a law because it was in the interest of England while McKinley who was the author of the McKinley act which gave this country the greatest prosperity it ever had was burned in effigy in Birmingham, England, because that tariff act was in the interest of American progress, American wages as against the interests of England and the products of European paperized wages. In 1892 England expected every American free trader to do his duty and England was not disappointed, for she, as a result of the Wilson tariff law, has prosperity while millions of American workmen are begging for bread.

The Silver Peril.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A great deal of truth is compressed into the declaration of the American Bankers' association in its convention in St. Louis. The association, which represents every locality in the United States, sets forth in its address to the country that, in its opinion, "the existing commercial depression is immediately due to the attacks which threaten to overthrow the present gold standard of value, and that it further believes that our full measure of national prosperity will not be gained until the whole world understands that the dollar of the United States is 100c worth of gold and that the nation intends to keep it at that value."

No sane person will deny that the present trade torpor is due to the silver menace. The Bryanites, semi-sane and insane, concede, we believe, that Bryan's election would bring on a panic, but they contend that the panic would be short, and that business would soon adjust itself to the new conditions. They think, or pretend they think, that after the adjustment was made business would be better than it has been in recent years, and that it would stay better. But the Bryanites, blind and false in most things, see and do not deny that the uncertainty as to which standard is going to prevail after November 3 is the cause of the depression. To this extent they are in entire harmony with the thoughtful people of the country, Democrats and Republicans.

The uncertainty, however, in the opinion of the great majority of the people, is not as to which side is going to win, but as to the length of McKinley's lead in the electoral college. This point, the extent of the honest money side's preponderance, is more important than most persons may realize. As the bankers' address says, "our full measure of national prosperity will not be gained until the whole world understands that the dollar of the United States is 100c worth of gold, and that the nation intends to keep it at that value." There is only one way of getting the world to understand this, and that is by making McKinley's majority more sweeping even than Cleveland's was in 1892. A majority like that rolled up by Grant in 1872 would bury the silver fellow so deep that even the Albigals, the Bryanites and the St. Warts would be ashamed to mourn over it. The indications are that an honest money majority of something like the 1872 proportion will be had.

Bryan's Egg Illustration.

A correspondent for the New York Sun has the following to say of the free silver theory as expounded by Bryan at Emment, Ky., Sept. 15:

"If any man in this community would offer to buy all the eggs produced at 25 cents a dozen, and was able to make good the offer, nobody would sell eggs for less, no matter what the cost of production, whether one cent or five cents a dozen. So with silver."

That is to say, "If any man in this community would offer to buy" at twice their market value per dozen, "all the eggs produced, and was able to make good his offer," that alone would establish the market price of eggs. Now, if he had supposed his egg buyer to buy eggs at the market price and try to corner the egg market at 25 cents per dozen, his "so with silver" would mean that he believes the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill was wrong only in being limited. But "so with silver, from coinage would establish the market price of silver at $1.29, and nobody would sell it for a cent less."

This means that "if any man in this community would offer to take all the eggs produced," and without regard to value, put them up in packages of one dozen and mark them one dozen eggs, 25 cents, and return these packages to the owners, that alone would establish the market price of eggs. When that style of argument is used by a candidate for the presidency, who can be anything but a goldbug.

Senator Vilas Wins Applause.

Senator William F. Vilas was chairman of the Gen. Sicksels meeting, in Madison, Wis., and delivered a short and eloquent address, saying that party devotion pales before the vital causes now at issue, and that no political difference interferes when such a danger threatens the country. He was loudly applauded when he declared that "we, in Wisconsin, yield nothing in patriotism to the good sense of our brothers in Maine and Vermont, and their hills and dales will get answer like blading prairies from the plains of the west. Some of us are for McKinley and Hobart, some for Palmer and Buckner, but we all stand side by side united by a common bond of patriotism to silence the voice of treason."

W. C. T. U. Officers.

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Thursday afternoon the following vice presidents from the churches were elected: Christian—Mrs. John Ulrich.

First M. E.—Miss M. E. Crissey; assistant, Dr. Pierce-Collins.

Grace M. E.—Mrs. Lizzie Cruzan.

Baptist—Mrs. Halstead.

First Presbyterian—Mrs. Knight; assistant, Mrs. M. L. Brown.

U. B.—Mrs. Kenney.

Edward Gaston, of Harvey, representing the Christian Citizenship National League of Chicago, explained the purpose and work of the league.

Mrs. L. M. Brown gave an interesting report from the seventeenth and thirtieth district conventions, full of good thoughts and suggestions for future work.

Among the Churches.

Rev. Danely will preach at Elwin and Blue Mound next Sunday. The congregations of the church on Mr. Danely's circuit have all welcomed him on being returned by the conference. He has made himself very popular with the church people with whom he comes in contact and they were glad that he was not to leave.

The members of the Cumberland Presbyterian church have called a new pastor, Rev. Cochran, of Evanston, to succeed Rev. McAnis, who has gone to Ridge Farm.

Rev. R. G. Hobbs will preach at Grace church in this city next Sunday morning and in the evening the new presiding elder, Rev. E. B. Randle will preach.

The fish fry which was held at the Long Creek church was largely attended. The patrons were served with a fine fish supper.

A Great Play Coming.

Charles H. Riege with Hamilton's players, has played many parts most successfully. His last great success was "Taffy" in "Tribby." He first of all played it in the burlesque of "Tribby," then in the genuine "Tribby" and his success was unqualified in them both, thus showing his versatility. He plays Joe Vernon, the blacksmith in "In Miz-zou-ra," which will be the next play at the Grand and comes next Saturday evening, Sept. 26.

A Delegate.

The meeting of the Springfield presbytery of the Presbyterian church at Davenport elected the following delegates to the state synod to be held at Danville Oct. 20: Ministers—A. Morey, T. D. Logan, W. H. Penhallegon, D. G. Carson, John Roberts.

Elders—M. S. Kimball, Springfield; J. N. Wilson, Virginia; J. W. Newcomer, Petersburg; J. W. Nesbitt, Providence; J. H. Kincaid, Athens.

Death in the Country.

John, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lyons, living two miles east of the city died Thursday Sept. 24. The funeral was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence and the burial was at the Bolling Springs cemetery. The Salvation army had charge of the funeral.

TERRE HAUTE RALLY

Sound Money Railroad Men Go In a Special Train from Decatur

AND MARCH IN THE BIG PARADE.

Special Trains Came to Terre Haute from All Directions and Thousands Were in the City—Decatur Made a Good Showing.

The excursion over the Vandalia road to the railroad men's big sound money rally at Terre Haute yesterday was largely attended. Those who went from this city were mostly members of the railroad men's sound money club. The special train of eleven coaches left Decatur at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and arrived at Terre Haute at 7 o'clock. Nine of the coaches were occupied by the people from Decatur and the other two were filled by those who joined the party at other stations. The train brought about 800 people into Terre Haute. Goodman's band and the Republican drum corps went from Decatur.

The rally itself was one of the largest affairs of the kind that has ever been held in Terre Haute. There were special trains into the city from all parts of Illinois and Indiana and one train came from St. Louis. The torchlight procession which was held at night was the main feature of the rally. There were thousands of men in line and the parade was just fifty-five minutes in passing one point. The line of march was on the street car track and some novel features were introduced. The procession was headed by a locomotive, propelled by electricity and ended with a caboose. The Decatur delegation made a fine appearance in line. They marched eight abreast, headed by the drum corps and Goodman's band. The latter was acknowledged to be the best band in the parade and after it was over the members rounded music in the office of the Terre Haute house. A campaign glee club from Decatur also gave several selections at the hotel.

One noticeable feature about the excursion and rally was the good behavior of everyone. There were no disturbances to mar the pleasure of the trip and the crowd was a remarkably well behaved one. On the whole the excursion was a great success. There were hundreds of men at the depot who wanted badges to take them on the special train but as the applications came in so fast the managers had finally to refuse to supply anyone but railroad men as there would simply not have been a place to put them on the train. The special left Terre Haute shortly after 11 o'clock last night and did not reach Decatur until 4 o'clock this morning as many stops were made.

Golden Rod—A bonnet.

"THE PORT OF THE SANGAMON."

Whatever path I rove, these autumn days,

With ghostly pale sorrow moves a near.

Led up by beckoning Golden Rod, by mere,

And vale, and river, and wall and upland ways.

And that gold flower's grave analogies

Sorrow keeps whirling in my averted ear.

Until those Memories I almost fear:

Come arm in arm, up thro' the backward haze;

But not alone, oh, Golden Rod! the gold

You symbol—(bright death-korch of Summer joy)

Slays dearest hopes, brings social pangs untold;

For you, my country! Fears for you annoy!

O, golden-plumed autumn! 'round me rolled;

O, Golden! The verge, where warring storms destroy!

A WONDERLAND.

Facts and Guesses About the Roraima Mountains.

A Mysterious Country Near the Schom-burg Line in Venezuela—Surmises as to the Flora and Fauna of the Region.

Perhaps one result of the Venezuela boundary commission's work will be the solving of the most remarkable geographical enigmas in the world and the exploration of what is regarded as a unique natural wonderland. This remarkable region is a number of elevated and isolated areas of land, situated on what the British call British Guiana's southwestern boundary, which is in the disputed territory. It is on the British side of the Schomburgk line. A British Guiana newspaper describes this region, as far as it is known, and expresses the hope that the final settlement of the boundary controversy will leave it well within British bounds. Should there be another result, however, the newspaper says, the region should be made an international park, something on the plan of the Yellowstone park reservation.

The region is called by the Indians "Roraima," but the several isolated areas are known by distinctive names.
Each consists of what might be called an isolated mountain, but is really a table-land, comprising an area of 100 or more square miles, elevated several thousand feet above the surrounding country. The rocky sides of the mountains are as perpendicular as the Hudson river palisades and entirely bare of vegetation, and have defied all attempts to scale them. The level summits are covered with trees and other vegetation, and down the rocky sides fall a large number of cascades of considerable size, indicating the certain existence of rivers and streams on the mysterious summits, and probably of lakes that feed the rivers. The summits have been observed with telescopes, and are known to be as full of plant life as the tropical plains below, but beyond this nothing is known.

Because so little is known of the condition of these table-lands occasion is given for all manner of speculation as to what exists there. That the vegetation is quite different from that on the plains below the telescope shows; and that it should be so is quite natural, as the table-lands are 2,000 or more feet higher than the plains. While the climate of the plains is tropical, that of the table-lands must be temperate, not only because of their elevation, but because of the free play the winds have about them.

Of the geology of the region this explanation is given: This part of South America rose slowly from the sea, through successive and remote ages.
The Roraima mountains were formed precisely as was the rest of the land, and are not the result of volcanic action.
Hence they must have been above the ocean before the surrounding plains appeared. They stood 2,000 feet above the level of the sea when the neighboring tops were but islands in the ocean.
In the course of a period difficult to appreciate the adjacent valleys and plains appeared above the water and became covered with vegetation and animal life. But the isolated plateaus of Roraima had a tremendous start of the plains below. Here comes the alleged ground for the speculation that perhaps on these mysterious summits there exists flora and fauna unlike any found elsewhere, forms of life that long since disappeared from other parts of the world, but remained the same on these summits, because unaffected by the influences of communication with the outer world. All sorts of wild guesses have been hazarded regarding the existence of strange reptiles and animals among the streams and forests of Roraima.

The cascades falling from the summits are among the highest in the world.
One is 2,000 feet high and is broad enough to be visible 30 miles away. It falls sheer, without a break.
The mountains from which these cascades fall form the dividing watersheds of the Amazon, the Orinoco and the Essequibo, the three great rivers of South America, and the waters of the cascades flow some to one and some to another of these rivers. It is argued that to supply these waterfalls there must be a considerable body of water on the mountain plateaus, and it is natural to conclude that where there are large bodies of water there are fish and reptiles. The resulting conclusion that, because these fish and reptiles must have been isolated on the mountain tops for ages, they are likely to be different from any known species, is regarded as quite natural. The mountain plateaus form practically little countries by themselves, like islands, but more isolated, because the ocean air that surrounds them does not afford the facilities for communication with other islands as do the waters of the ocean itself.

One of the plateaus, known as Kuken-ham, which is better situated for observation than any of the others, is estimated to have an area of 200 square miles or more. The smallest, which bears the name common to the group, Roraima, is estimated to contain 50 to 140 square miles.

The story of the mysterious region is not new, at least to British Guiana. It is many years since any scientific men were in the region, but chance travelers and gold prospectors happen there at odd times, and when they return to Demerara they add their little store of information and mystification to the rest.—N. Y. Sun.

Heading Her Off.

"Everywhere I called to-day," said Mrs. Mathey to her daughter, "I heard that Miss Winsome was engaged."
"That's nice. I started the report myself. She has been monopolizing the attention of our young men long enough."

PHARAOH.

Condition of His Kingdom on His Accession.

"Egypt Is Desolated and Abandoned to Invasion from All Lands." Was the Picture He Drew—Building Up His Power.

Prof. Flinders Petrie contributes an account of his discovery of a tablet which gives the first historic account of the oppression of the Children of Israel.
Concerning the character of "Pharaoh of the Hard Heart" Prof. Petrie writes as follows: A melancholy prospect he had seen as he grew up. His father had been active in the earlier years of the reign; but after about 20 years he ceased all personal labor, and seems to have sunk in his fatuous pride into a mere despot, devoted to perpetuating his effigies on the monuments, and his family in the harem. The kingdom went steadily into decay year after year, and the old man became more indolent and more fatuous, while none of his sons seems to have been allowed to take up the reins and save the country.
invasion from all lands; the barbarians overrun its frontier, the revolvers invade it daily, every country is pillaging its cities, raiding its dwellings in the fields and on the river. They abide and settle there for days and months seated in the land; they reach the hills of middle Egypt."

Such is the melancholy picture drawn by Merenptah of the state of the country on his accession—a striking contrast to the work of the really great kings of Egypt, of the Amenhotep and Thothmes line, who had handed down the rule of Syria from father to son unbroken. The continuous record that every year regularly he went through Syria to receive tribute and maintain his power, taking all the young princes to be educated in Egypt before they came to act as vassals in their own country. Until he was over 50 this annual outing was kept up, and his children to the third and fourth generation received this dominion in peaceful succession. But under Ramesses all this stability had vanished; a few raids which did not cover half the previous conquests of Syria, a treaty on equal terms with the foe, a J the boastful king sunk into an inglorious lethargy, in which even Egypt itself was largely given up to the foreigners.

And this decay was what had eaten into the soul of Merenptah during all his youth and vigor: until he was at least 40 nothing could be done by him.
It was not until the old king had come to that condition which we can now see before our eyes in the Cairo museum—a withered mummy, which seems as if still dwelt in and half alive with the spirit of insensate pride—it was not until this evil genius of the land was in his tomb that a stroke could be struck for the freedom of the country.

Then began careful preparation. For four years Merenptah was consolidating his power, with apparently one expedition to Syria, up the coast to the plain of Esdraelon and Tyre; this reconquest we have learned of only since finding the new tablet. But it did not do more than secure the principal fortresses near the coast, and command the corn districts of Philistia and Esdraelon, which were cultivated by the people of Israel, among others. It is evident that reorganization had been going on, strengthening the resistance of the country, by the vigor with which the great Libyan invasion was repelled after the country had been long submitting to minor attacks.

At the end of March, in his fifth year, Merenptah had a dream. Ptah, the great god of Memphis, appeared to him, and warned him to be ready a fortnight hence. This is doubtless a priestly way of putting some warnings from spies or travelers who reported the preparations in progress. Then, early in April, the great tempest of foreign invasion burst in from the west, just when all the harvests were gathered in, the fields stripped bare, the whole land naked and open, and canals dried up; in short, just when the greatest facilities existed for invasion, and the full granaries tempted the desert peoples.
The warning had not been in vain. Merenptah was prepared, and attacked the assembled host with his cavalry; the gods fought with them, and for one long afternoon, from midday till dark, they slew, and slew, and slew, for six hours slaughtering the multitude. The defeat was utter. The king, Maury, son of Dad, escaped, thanks to the darkness; but he did not even secure a horse or provisions, and fled from the fight on foot, completely terrified. His wives and his rich equipage, his silver and gold and bronze vessels, the ornaments of his wife, his thrones, his bows, his weapons, and all that he had were a prey to the Egyptians. Some 16,000 bodies lay on the field of battle, and 9,000 prisoners were taken.—Century.

Preserved Peaches.

Pare the peaches or drop them into boiling water, letting them stand for two minutes, then the skins can be stripped off easily. Drop them, when skinned, into cold water to prevent discoloration. Allow three-fourths of a pound of sugar to one pound of fruit, and one cupful of water to each pound of sugar. When the sirup boils, add the peaches, a few at a time, and cook until tender, then put them in jars. When all are done, fill up the jar with sirup.
Peaches may be halved or used whole, a few stones left in the halves give a good flavor to the preserve.—Good Housekeeping.

THE KEYSTONE STATE

Several Delegations from Pennsylv-vania Visit Maj. McKinley.

PATRIOTIC ADDRESSES BY THE GREAT

Protectionist—Call Upon the Voters to Arise and Defeat the Unworthy Cause of Free Silver and National Dishonor.

Canton, Sept. 24.—This has been one of the most picturesque days of the presidential campaign in Canton. There was an abundance of music, flowers and pretty women. The delegations numbered three today. The West Newton, Pa., delegation composed of miners and was soon followed by those from Oil City. A unique feature of this delegation was the parade of forty-five pretty young women, each representing one state of the union and each carrying a large basket overflowing with beautiful roses. The third and last delegation was from West Moreland county, Pa., largely composed of miners and glass workers.
This delegation was 3000 strong and took three special trains to carry it. In response to the spokesman of the Oil City delegation Major McKinley said:

This is indeed a very great honor and tribute to the patriotic and noble cause. I shall never forget the picture before me as long as I live and I shall cherish in memory this magnificent assemblage. I am especially glad, my fellow citizens, to meet this large and representative delegation from your enterprising city. I congratulate you upon the wonderful development and advancement of your local material resources, unknown and undeveloped until touched by the magic wand of American skill and invention, both of which has been greatly quickened by a long established and wide industrial system.

Since Prof. Silliman began his explorations and the first wells were drilled in 1857, not far from your city, the industry was of slow growth until after the war and then it sprang into such prominence that there was an "oil fever" all over the country, and I remember the disease was sometimes very fatal to investors. (Great laughter) and you probably know more about that than I do. (Applause and laughter.) The great men who founded Pennsylvania and have guarded her interests close, very properly turned their attention to the establishment and encouragement of manufactures with such marked success that the life of industry, but the commonwealth of prosperous traders and farmers and contented homes. (Great applause and cries of "Hurrah for Pennsylvania.")

The system I would favor for the country is the system of the father—a system which came in with the government—a system with which we have had the highest degree of prosperity, which seeks the same growth in population; the same increase in wealth; the same diffusion of prosperity everywhere that you have enjoyed in Pennsylvania. (Applause.) Let us not be disturbed by our production but rather take measures of preventing the under consumption of American products, by preserving and enlarging our home market and extending our foreign markets beyond the sea. (Applause and cries of "Good, good.") Let us continue the policy of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lincoln, Grant, Stevens, Cameron, Blaine and Garfield, and the scores of other distinguished statesmen whose great services made the greatest and most prosperous country of the world.

We want to cultivate a higher national spirit. We want to keep high the American name. (Applause.) The great men who founded the government, the great men who have since sustained it in war and peace, would have revolted at the thought of repudiation and national dishonor. (Tremendous cheering.) We must hold fast to our present excellent financial system, which they helped to establish and we must restore that splendid industrial policy which enabled this country to rapidly, distinctly and undisputedly surpass all others. Great applause.)

This can be done by an overwhelming republican triumph at the polls in November at the election not now at weeks distant. (Great applause and cries of "It will be done.") We make no narrow appeal for your suffrages. In this contest men are nothing, principles are everything. Great applause and cries of "That's right." I ask only that you live up to your full privilege as American electors by standing beneath your feet the unworthy imputation that this is a nation of dishonest doctors and that our workingmen are incapable of doing their work at home or are indifferent to a policy which permits them doing it. (Applause and cries of "We will do it.") I thank you, my fellow citizens for this demonstration and for your personal greetings and assurances of support and evidences of personal regard.

Major McKinley's address in response to the remarks of Colonel Buff, spokesman of the West Moreland county delegation was as follows:

Colonel Buff and my fellow citizens of Westmoreland county: I thank you one and all for the good cheer which you bring me today. I value it highly as an endorsement of the great principles which I have at the moment the honor to represent—the great and everlasting principles of the republican party. (Applause.) In this contest, old arty lives are being more or less effaced and patriotic citizens are coming together upon one common platform to sustain the people's honor and support the good faith of the government of the United States.
(Great cheering and applause.) Lincoln's said in one of those great debates against Douglas: "It is a question between right and wrong that is the real issue. That is the issue that will continue in this country when these poor tongues of ours are silent.
It is the eternal struggle between these two struggles, right and wrong, throughout the world. They are the two principles, that have stood face to face from the beginning of time and will ever continue to struggle until the right shall ultimately triumph."

The principle for which Mr. Lincoln contended, the limitation of slave territory and the final abolition of slavery itself, did triumph most gloriously to the satisfaction evidently of every patriotic citizen both north and south. We are confident this year with a great moral principle Such a question I admit ought never to enter into political discussion but which having arisen must be courageously met by the American people and settled once for all upon the eternal principles of right, justice and honor. (Applause and these cheers for McKinley.) and so settled, it trust, that the like of it will never be raised again. (Cries of "It never will be.") But my fellow citizens, what is the proposition gravely presented to us? Both of the great political parties of this country have at different times placed upon the statute books of the United States the express declaration that "All our money whether gold, silver or paper, shall be kept equal in value by every resource at the command of the government." (Tremendous cheering.) In opposition to this formal, legal and binding declaration there are those who propose to deliberately annul that solemn contract and put this country upon a sole monetary basis and that monetary a base silver one, resting on a depreciating currency, fluctuating in value from day today and what will be the result? It will drive from circulation or impair the value all the other money of the country for it must be remembered that the nations of the world which are on a silver basis use no gold and the nations that are on a gold basis use silver.
(Applause.) To my mind the question involves a distinct issue between right and wrong, between honor and dishonor; and I believe it will on reflection be considered by an overwhelming majority of American voters on the third of November next. (Tremendous applause and cheering.) We cannot afford to triffl about a matter as serious and vital to our standing and welfare as a people, and I appeal to you, my fellow citizens of West Moreland county, and all who love their country and our institutions to rise in their might and defend this unworthy appeal by such a vast majority as will put it to rest forever. (A pause and cries of "We will.") Aside from the question of good money and the maintenance of our national honor, the other issue of this campaign is the restoration of our protective policy. (A voice, "That's the stuff.") I think it is patriotic and profitable for example, to use American coal rather than foreign coal. (Cries of "You're right.") I think the use of foreign coal which makes idle miners in the United States is a most expensive experiment for the American people. (Cries of "That's right.") What we want above all, to encourage both home production and home competition. Let us have it in the great American family whose charge should always be our special concern. I thank you for this visit; I appreciate the honor you have done me, and the splendid tribute you have paid to the cause which I represent. (A voice, "We will do better in November.") This is the most recent now of discussion, the solemn and supreme act of the citizen will be performed on the third day of November, when you go into your quiet booth, with none present but your God and your conscience, to deposit your ballot. I pray God that the ballots of my countrymen this year and every year of our history shall be thrown on the side of good morals, good politics, good government, good laws and exalted patriotism.
(Tremendous applause.)

Let us loose a Nest of Hornets to Torment the Would-Be Lynchers.
Man and horse looked like an equestrian statue at the edge of a dense forest.
The bay of the bloodhounds in hot pursuit came from the wooded depths.
When they dashed into the open with an armed posse clattering at their heels, the man threw up his hands in token of surrender.

"That's the boss, boys, an' that's the thievin' varmint astraddle on 'im," said the leader. "He's Gallopin' Bill, the cantankerous cuss in th' nor'west. We'd jest make a lasso kernection atween his neck an' a stout limb, lead th' boss from under him an' leave him ter look out for hisself."

When they had dismounted the man whose doom had been pronounced whirled his steed with marvelous quickness, made a swinging motion with his right arm, dropped his head to the withers of the gallant black stud and once more sped toward the mountain fastnesses where there was security.

The howling hounds rolled in the grass, raked their sides against the trees and then tore away in search of water into which they might plunge.
The horses madly broke from all restraint, kicked, bit, frantically switched their tails and went crashing like hunted bucks through the thickest underbrush. The members of the posse scattered in hot haste, roaring maledic-tions, cursing with frontier fluency, tearing their hair, reading their clothing and beating themselves with their hands as they leaped and yelled. Their heads were like those of a poisoned pup and their bodies like a cranberry patch.

As Galloping Bill turned he had struck the long nest above him. The horns did the rest.—Detroit Free

ON SNOWSHOES.

Our Three-Caribou Feast in the Burren Grounds.

Feeding the Dogs—Men Ate the Fat and the Fat the Animals Ate the Meat—Try the Experience.

When we killed caribou the dogs were in the spot, and the little meat remains were divided among the sledges, to be carried for them against the day when we would be lucky. We never were lucky enough to kill before this little feast was exhausted. Had we been, the dogs would have been fed. I would have been fed. As it was, we ate the intestines and the dogs ate the meat. There was not enough for the dogs. I knew the dogs would not starve, for we had killed enough caribou to feed them.
I knew the dogs would not starve, for we had killed enough caribou to feed them.
had killed enough caribou to feed them.

When I remembered that the caribou was not a dog train—I, a caribou train, was traveling 30 or more miles a day—consists of a caribou train, and a dog train. We had 28 dogs, and they were not more than a caribou train. I knew the dogs would not starve, for we had killed enough caribou to feed them. I knew the dogs would not starve,
them.

When we killed caribou we first cut up the caribou for a day or two's dog feeding.
The dogs were fed. The dogs were fed.

The dogs were fed. The dogs were fed.
The dogs were fed. The dogs were fed.

This dog feeding was a trying experience. All the dogs were fed at the same time—when we camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—
and when we were not camped at night—

anything much to win a Derby. Charley

TEACHING THEM ENGLISH.

Young Foreigners Taught Our Language
by Object Lessons.

The simple and effective method of teaching English to the children of Italians, Portuguese, Polish and German Jews, used profitably in the North end schools of Boston, might profitably be adopted by other cities which are obliged to face the fact that within their borders are thousands of foreign children who know nothing of the customs, institutions or language of this country. A writer in the Boston Transcript thus describes the method:

The children, within a few days after their arrival, are sent to the public schools, as a rule without compulsion, and here they are first of all taught the English language. It is done by a system of object lessons. The teachers in the elementary rooms are young women, as men would not be patient enough to accomplish the best results.
The teacher may point to her eye and say: "This is my eye," repeating it several times and requiring the pupils to repeat it in unison. Other portions of the body are pointed out in a similar manner, and then familiar objects in the room are in the same way brought to the attention of the children.

Later, when they have made sufficient progress in the language, it becomes desirable to teach the different tenses.
To accomplish this a boy or girl is directed to run slowly around the room, when the teacher and children say in unison:

"The boy is running," repeating the sentence several times. The boy is then told to halt, and the teacher and pupils say in unison: "That boy did run." Again: "That boy is standing still." "That boy can run." "That boy is walking." "That boy walks fast,"
"can walk." "I can run." "I did walk," etc.

These and other sentences, as they are spoken, are written on the blackboard by the teacher and the pupils write them on their slates. Thus they are taught the language and taught to spell, read and write almost simultaneously.

AN ENGLISH VIEW.

England and Russia Can Never Be Friends.

The truth is that Great Britain and Russia are too big ever to agree for any time. We believe that to our race will fall the ultimate supremacy of the world; Russia believes exactly the same of herself. Sooner or later the two ambitions must collide, and we had better be making ready for that great day at once. To allow Russia to absorb all possible strength before the conflict is to put a premium on defeat and ruin.

What, then, does England want? We want, above all, a new eastern policy and a definite one—such a policy as is pigeonholed in the bureau of St. Petersburg. We have cast China overboard; we might as well cast the ship with Japan. We talk of Japan as a friendly power, and even as an ally, but with what warrant? Inasmuch as we put no pressure on her to abandon her Chinese conquests, and were the first western power to recognize her adolescence by compromising the privileges of extra-territoriality, it is probable that she harbors less resentment toward us than toward Russia. But we have done nothing for her; on the contrary, we have made a singular exhibition of impotence at the recent crisis of her national life, and such an exhibition is apt to depreciate the value of the ex-hibitor's friendship.

If we are to ally with Japan we must be prepared to fight for her if it becomes necessary. In some years she will command a navy which, with our own Chinese man, could easily sweep the Pacific, while on land she will dispose of half a million trained men. Only, if we want the aid of this force we must not repeat the pitiful abandonment of the Chinese policy. In one word, alliance or no alliance, we ought to be clear what we will fight for.—Blackwood's Magazine.

NOTE FROM COL. INGERSOLL.

He Writes Dr. Bumstead Defining His Position on the Money Question.

This letter which explains itself has been received by Dr. Bumstead from Col. Robert G. Ingersoll:

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Sept. 23, '96.
Dr. S. J. Bumstead, My Dear Friend:
I think I said in Denver substantially what is published. I thought it a mistake to demonetize silver and also thought that we should remonetize our silver, that is the silver produced in our country. It never occurred to me that we could coin the silver of the whole world. Neither did I want silver coined at less than its value. I wanted a dollar's worth of silver in a silver dollar.

At the time I made the speech in Denver I supposed that congress demonetized silver in '73. Afterwards I found that I was mistaken. I found that many years before we had made the gold standard. I found that this was done in 1834, 1837 and in 1853.

Today I have no objection to the coinage of silver at the proper ratio, but I am opposed to the coinage of any dollars that are not in value equal to gold dollars. If it takes a dollar's worth of gold to make a dollar, certainly it takes a dollar's worth of silver to make a dollar.

Yours truly, R. G. Ingersoll.

THE COUNTY'S POOR.

Plan Adopted at Last to Shut Out the Unworthy.

COMMITTEE TO ACT WITH OVERSEER

Supervisors Magee, Hanes and Stoy on the Committee No Supply Store But of Fare.

After a session of two days the board of supervisors finally agreed upon what appears to be a good plan of relieving the pauper problem of the county, with special reference to Decatur township. And they have also adopted measures which will tend largely to shut out the professional paupers, the burthen on who are strong enough to work but would not if employment was found them.

The supply store plan with commissioners in charge suggested by the special committee was knocked out last evening, and today Mr. Wain's plan was rejected.

Supervisor Nickey offered a resolution suggesting that the county board decide on the quantity and character of supplies needed for the paupers and that the board advertise for sealed bids to furnish the supplies, the store firm making the lowest bid to receive all the orders for the year. The resolution was discussed for over an hour, and finally defeated.

On motion of Supervisor Alva a special committee of three members of the board was appointed to act with Overseer McClelland in giving proper aid to the paupers. The committee comprises Supervisors Magee, Hanes and Stoy.

The business of the board this afternoon was to decide on the bill of fare for the paupers, a list of certain things that can be had at the stores on county orders. The special committee, and the overseer will carefully investigate the actual condition of every applicant for aid and if any are unworthy they will be denied help.

The Dollar Orders.

By the action of the board the overseer is authorized to issue orders on merchants for the following articles only to the amount of a dollar, the quantity to be specified on the order when issued: Bacon, lard, flour, ham, beans, potatoes, salt, sugar, rice, coffee or tea, fuel.

The committee in presenting the going list offered this resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That the committee furnish a list of articles to be furnished paupers printed upon the backs of each order also that the merchant on whom the order is issued be compelled to specify the weight or measure of each article, as well as the price charged for the same. Each order so issued to be non-transferable and to be printed upon the back of the order. The further resolved that each order shall contain some merchant whose name shall appear on the face of the order.

By May: That the purchasing committee buy the necessary food for the coming election.

By Draper: That an order for each be drawn for pauper children sent from Macon county to the Children's Home society.

By Draper: That the county clerk be authorized to furnish all necessary election supplies.

Some minor business transacted after which the session closed.
